To Whom it May Concern

CQG Consulting (also trading as CQ Environmental) has been providing Aust-Pac Capital and its associated companies with environmental advisory services for over ten years.

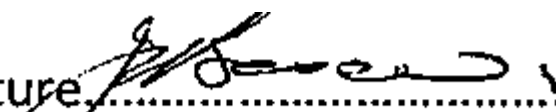

During this time CQG have successfully project managed five EIS projects for my company and associated investment companies.

CQG's professional ability, strategic thinking, intuitive appreciation of their clients' needs, management of project budgets and their production of quality EIS documentation is very impressive.

I trust the team at CQG and rely on their understanding of the environmental and planning regulatory processes to secure project approvals. Their care factor is high, their attention to detail reliable and their interaction with government agencies persistent and effective.

My experience to date is that CQG's services exceed their competitors, including the large multi-national firms. I have no hesitation in recommending CQG to project manage and deliver EIS projects for major projects.
